

You and I, walking hand in hand by the riverside
The breeze so gentle, washed us with its tenderness
The moonlight enough to see each other
We looked into each other's eyes.

A life so long and unpredictable stood before us
Promises to be kept
Hurdles to overcome
Priorities to be set,
Questions to answer.

We smiled at each other
Knowing nothing to say
A life we had to face together
With all its ups and downs
Knowing we are there for each other
Life seemed so beautiful and trouble free
Smiling at each other, we walked together along the "Road of Life."

– Reshmi Sujesh.

Road of life